MODERN WOODMEN.

Many of our readers will remember the Modern Woodmen meeting at the school house in this city some two weeks ago, and the splendid speeches of Mr. Thomas H. Duffy, of Dubuque, Iowa, and Mr. J. W. Dehart, of Louisville, National Lecturer and State Deputy respectively, and that it was then announced that Mr. J. W. Womack, of Winchester, would organize a branch of that great benevolent society at Clay City. Mr. Womack, who delayed beginning the work then because of previous engagements, will take up the work on the 26th inst. and push it to a conclusion without delay. From what we have learned about this society, we very frankly say that we believe it is doing a great work for the common people. Hence we stand ready to welcome it in our city as will all of our citizens who know anything of its merits.

Must Stand Trial.

Beach Hargis, the young patricide must stand trial for the murder of his father, Judge Hargis at this term of the Estill Circuit Court. The defense asked for a continuance because W. O. Bradley and Will A. Young chief counsel for the defense was not present to assist in the trial. Judge Ananis overruled the motion for continuance and the trial entered into. It is claimed that some trouble will be found in the attempt to get a jury in Estill because most of the citizens of the county have formed and expressed an opinion in the case.

It will pay you to look at our line of Men's, Boys' and Youth's Clothing before making your purchase. Hardwick & Co., Stanton.

Growth of the K. P. Order.

According to the last annual report just completed, the K. of P. Order in Kentucky is in a most flourishing condition and growing rapidly. Ten new Lodges were instituted during the year, making now 172 in all, with a membership of 18,825. This membership comprises one Past Supreme Chancellor, 18 Past Grand Chancellors, 2,927 Past Chancellors, 10,854 Knights, 55 Esquires and 70 Pages. During last year the sum of $26,424.13 was expended by the Orders in Kentucky for the relief of sick members and for funeral benefits. The assets of the various subordinate lodges include cash, $31,631.60; real estate, $50,411.07; paraphernalia and furniture $45,730.71.

Mt. Sterling Court.

There was a big crowd in town for April Court, the horse show and stock market being the attractions. Trade in all lines was brisk and merchants report good business. There were about 1,500 cattle on the market and the quality was medium. One thousand pound steers brought 5 cents, yearlings 5½ cents, heifers 8½ to 4 cents, old cows and bulls 4 to 2 cents. Trade was slow.

There were a number of mules on the market and the demand good, with prices about as at last court. A number of 16 hand mules sold readily at $200 per head; 15½ hand mules brought $165 to $180; 16 hand mules at $140 to $170; smaller mules ranging from $90 to $180.

There were a number of buyers on the market for fine horses and a number were sold. Greenwade & Co., sold ten head at prices ranging from $150 to $300. Good horses brought from $125 to $200; medium horses from $100 to $185, with plugs glutting the market at from $25 to $60, some selling for as low as $10 per head.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

SOUND ADVICE.

John C. Edgar, a well-known writer to Home and Farm gives some sensible advice to persons intending to move to new countries. He lives in a state that is attracting from Kentucky thousands of her best citizens. Mr. Edgar says in part:

Never in the history of the State has there been such an epidemic of immigration as at this time. It recalls the rush of the '49ers in my boyhood. In each case, the rushers were animated by the same desire to possess wealth from the soil; but while a few of the '49ers realized their ambition by lucky strikes, the 1909ers, in coming will find gold in every acre they buy and treat with good judgment.

When an immigration craze gets started it becomes more engrossing as it goes, and, like a fever, increases in intensity till it has run its course, when those affected either die from exhaustion, or slowly recover their senses.

It is not difficult to understand people living in a poor State or country being attracted by the alluring statement made by interested parties about land in new countries as this State is known the world over for its unlimited resources and possibilities; but what does justify surprise is that old settlers in the very richest, healthiest and best sections of the State should sell out their old, well-improved homes in well-settled communities and near good markets, at a less price per acre than they have to pay for cactus-covered land without timber or water, and far removed from markets or any decent means of reaching them.

I would just make one suggestion to intending immigrants, and that is, before investing in over-boomed, rough land, make inquiry at any of the big towns in the older settled sections and see if cheaper and better and well-improved land cannot be had. If I wanted a new home that is what I would do.

ROUNDTREE'S CHAPEL.

Born, to Will Harmon and wife, April 10, a boy weighing eight pounds; To Will Turley and wife a boy weighing eight pounds; To Tom Crow and wife a boy weighing two and one half pounds; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Devary are the proud parents of a ten pound boy born April 14. Three Democrats and one Republican.

Delayed Justice.

John Hawkins, killed Horace Reynolds near Jeffersonville, Montgomery county fourteen years ago and made his escape at the time. Last year he was arrested in West Virginia and brought back for trial and at Mt. Sterling last week was tried and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

Col. James W. Caperton, of Richmond, one of the leading lawyers and financiers of the State, died Monday after an illness of two weeks. Col. Caperton was 86 years old and had been the friend of many men of national reputation.

Automobile Runs Away.

Three Mt. Sterling girls had a narrow escape in an automobile runaway near Kiddville Sunday. While the three young men of the party were assisting two ladies past the machine whose horse had become frightened, the car which they had carefully stopped, from some unaccountable reason, broke loose and in the runaway two of the occupants, Misses Robertson were thrown from the car high into the air and alighted in a field uninjured. Miss Green the remaining passenger, was carried further down the hill, until the machine smashed directly into a farm house, tearing out its entire side, and there stopped. Miss Green was also not hurt.

Commercial Convention.

A Commercial Convention will be held at Louisville tomorrow. Delegates from all over the State will be in attendance. Good roads will be discussed by Joseph S. Bosworth member of the Good Roads Commission, and Dr. J. M. Mathews, President State Board of Health will speak of health conditions.

Too Large a Crop.

The enormous acreage in the white burley tobacco district is causing uneasiness among the leading growers who now fear that all efforts to pool the crop will fail and it will have to be sold at a great loss to the farmers. Some are said to have abandoned their crop and will plant corn instead.

Chas. J. Bronston, a leading attorney of Lexington, died very suddenly in that city.

Start With Cheap Roads.

Good road building in the country progresses slowly. Farmers are censured because they do not favor good road legislation or vote large sums of money to build clay or macadam or gravel roads. They are called obstructionists and other hard names, but they do not seem to mind that and go on refusing to vote the money.

The trouble mainly lies in the great expense of hard roads. It costs all the way from $1,000 to $4,000 per mile to build macadam roads, the cost depending on the lay of the land and the cost of material.

City people want the hard streets of the cities and towns extended into the country. Farmers say they cannot afford to pay the high taxes necessary to build these expensive roads. They can get along without them, and they do—somehow.

In many sections this contest between the city and country has resulted in the neglect of the dirt roads and public highways are growing worse instead of better.

We believe if the movement to force hard roads upon the farmers should be diverted into a campaign of education along the lines of improving our dirt roads, of illustrating the value and comfort of roads that are good most of the time and passable all of the time, doubtless the desire for good roads would be created and the movement would receive an impetus that would carry it far forward in the next ten years.

It is necessary to move slowly in great reforms of this kind. A sudden jump from mudholes to macadam is too much for the average farmer to undertake off-hand. He shows alarm when it is proposed to spend $100,000 on his road direct in one year against $1,000 the previous year. He can not see where his proportional benefit comes in. He has a suspicion that hard roads are wanted for the pleasure of the man with the automobile rather than for the man with the load of hay. He therefore bristles up and votes against the appropriation.

Dirt roads can be improved 100 per cent without the spending of more money than is now being wasted upon them under our antediluvian road laws, provided modern methods and business sense are mixed in equal parts in the work.

The organization of road clubs to work in co-operation with the state and township officials, the use of the modern road machines of the split log drag, plank smoothing drag; the draining and ditching will work wonders in two years on the worst dirt roads in the country.

One of our exchanges is of the opinion that the people who need reform are: "The man who left his horse standing out in the cold all day without a blanket on; the minister who is looking for an easier place and higher salary; the man who walks the streets with his hands in his pockets while his wife carries the baby; the man who keeps a dog and says he can't afford to take the home paper."

Improvement naturally will sweep away much prejudice, create public pride and a desire for better things. With the awakening of proper sentiment the advance toward hard roads will be much easier. They will come in time under the persuasive educational system, but they will come slowly. Expensive and permanent improvements cannot be upon the farmers.—American Farm World.

Comparatively few people learned to pronounce Mr. Roosevelt's name properly during the seven years of his presidency. In comparison the name of the new president may seem easy, but permit us to ask whether you pronounce it with the "a" of "ask," or the "a" of "cat" or the "a" of "father"—not to mention the broad "a" of want.

Harriman the railroad magnate says if this government was conducted on the same principle of the railroads it would be a better government, viz.: reduce the salaries, cut off useless employes, thus get a better article of government at half the cost. This sounds good to the people but how does it sound to the officeholders?

Since leaving the United States Roosevelt is said to have adopted the rule "When in Rome do as Rome does." Had he adopted this rule seven years ago he would have saved this country from much embarrassment and the disgrace of the chief executive eating with negroes.

Senator Guggenheim, of Colorado, one of the richest men in Congress, favors an income tax. That may be true but that Protective Republican Congress will never grant him the privilege of paying such tax. That's what they were elected for, to protect the riches of the wealthy.

In Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or may be you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

The Best Booster.

Did you ever think of it? Suppose every business man in the city took as much interest in the up-building of the city as the newspaper man. He works for railroads, manufactories, better roads, churches, good streets and a hundred and one other things for the general good; he urges, pleads, scolds, badgers and envorts around generally until he gets what he seis out for. Imagine, says an exchange, a newspaper man's feeling when some lame, string-halted kind of a fellow reproaches him because he don't boom things enough. It is nine times out of ten that same fellow has never paid one cent towards supporting the paper, and the paper he reads with marked regularity is generally borrowed from his neighbor.
